ATTO Technology Expands Canadian Distribution
with Tech Data Canada

Increases Market Reach Across North America

Mississauga, ON (November 21, 2011) –Tech Data Canada announced today that the full line of high-performance connectivity products offered by ATTO Technology, Inc., is now available to Canadian customers through their distribution channel. The new agreement gives thousands of technology resellers across Canada access to ATTO ExpressSAS Host Bus Adapters(HBAs) and RAID Adapters, Celerity Fibre Channel HBAs, RAID Controllers, Network Interface Cards & Converged Network Adapters, Bridges and Switches.

The partnership provides ATTO with a wide-reaching distribution network in Canada resulting in increased product availability, lower pricing and faster shipping for customers demanding quick turnaround and less down time in critical applications found in IT environments. In addition, it gives Canadian resellers affiliated with Tech Data a direct line to ATTO representatives for building industry-specific connectivity solutions for media and entertainment professionals.

"ATTO is excited to team up with a prominent supply company like Tech Data Canada," said Kerry Reid, vice president of worldwide sales at ATTO Technology, Inc. "By expanding our current distribution capabilities with Tech Data outside of the United States, we are able to make our products available at the most convenient sources for our channel partners. Tech Data Canada's reach makes this possible."

"Tech Data is very excited about adding ATTO to its vendor portfolio", said Greg Myers, vice president, marketing at Tech Data Canada. "ATTO has long been a leader in high-performance markets and this offers our resellers and integrators a chance to expand their footprint with a solid, market-proven solution."
