

ATTO/NetApp Solutions

ATTO is the only manufacturer to allow connectivity to both servers and workstations. ATTO's 16Gb/s and 8Gb/s Celerity Fibre Channel host bus adapters and MultiPath Director™ technology, and ATTO's 10Gb FastFrame Ethernet adapters, improve the performance and reliability of NetApp enterprise storage systems running high-performance workstation applications on Mac OS® X, Windows® and Linux hosts and is also available on Windows and Linux servers.

NetApp E-Series Solution

The combination of ATTO's Fibre Channel HBAs or FastFrame Ethernet Adapters with NetApp's E-Series Storage System provides:

- Performance - Enhance your video and rich media applications with fast, reliable and flexible high-end storage, as well as high-performance bandwidth for media intensive video streaming environments.
- Heterogeneous Support - Mac, Windows and Linux clients running different applications can collaborate on shared storage
- Concurrent File Sharing - Manage all types of video and media content, including metadata
- Investment Protection - ATTO Celerity Fibre Channel host bus adapters are designed to provide life cycle longevity

NetApp FAS Solution

The combination of ATTO's Fibre Channel HBAs and NetApp's FAS Enterprise Storage Systems provides:

- High-Availability Storage - Directly attach multiple Mac hosts to enterprise class NetApp Storage in a SAN for real time access to data
- High-Performance Connectivity - load balancing and ATTO's ADS™ Technology ensure highest consistent performance
- Increased Productivity - aggregate multiple FC links for data-intensive multimedia applications
- Simplified Management - create and manage shared storage using ATTO's Configuration Tool

ATTO/NetApp Interoperability

Celerity Fibre Channel HBAs have been tested by NetApp with the FAS and E-Series Enterprise Storage Systems. Celerity HBAs provide high-performance connectivity to these storage systems allowing workstations and servers to take advantage of the high-availability features of NetApp Storage.
